

"Best Law Firm for Women" Goes to Gray Plant Mooty

August 14, 2009

Gray Plant Mooty, a Minneapolis-based firm, was awarded title "Best Law Firm for Women" by Working Mother magazine, the authoritative source for career mothers, and Flex-Time Lawyers LLC, a national consulting firm advising attorneys and legal employers on work-life balance.

"Gray Plant Mooty believes that being excellent in our personal lives enhances our ability to be excellent in our professional lives," says Tamara Hjelle Olsen, GPM's managing officer. "By supporting our employees' ability to confidently and comfortably parent, we help create lawyers who are responsive to client needs, and more fun to work with. We are honored to again be recognized for these efforts."

Law firms with at least 50 attorneys were eligible to apply for the 2009 Best Law Firms for Women award. The application included detailed questions about issues that are most important to the retention and promotion of female lawyers. Gray Plant Mooty was selected based on responses to questions measuring areas such as workforce profile, family-friendly benefits and policies, flexibility, leadership, compensation, and the advancement and retention of women.
